

Weatherization Day 2011

The Ashland County Housing Authority (ACHA) held Weatherization Day 2011 at our local office in Mellen on, October 28, 2011. We advertised the event in two Newspapers, The Mellen Weekly Record and Glidden Enterprise. The ACHA also posted flyers in the Mellen, Glidden, and Butternut areas.

The event included free goodie bags filled with a light bulb, night light, aerator, program information, and energy saving tips. Visitors were able to get a free lunch and auditors were available for “Stump the Auditor” to answer any questions they may have about the program. A drawing was held for an opportunity for all participants to win door prizes such as smoke detectors. Lunch consisted of hot dogs, brats, chips, and a beverage. Xcel Energy was also there with a table displaying information and a few extra “freebies”. The day was a success and we figured we had around 100 people stop by and learn more about what the ACHA could do for them.

Last, but not least, our office cat, Alley, helped us celebrate Weatherization Day as well.

The ACHA adopted Alley Cat about 2 years ago. She was a stray we found on the street hanging around our office building and took her in. We took donations around town to help get her healthy again and a fresh start. She lives in the office full time and spends most of her day sleeping and going door to door receiving treats from the staff.
